SPARKS' PERSPECTIVE

Ron Sparks Commissioner

I would like to clarify the nutrition sub-committee's position on the recent nutrition policy adopted by the State Board of Education. The number one objective of our committee was to do everything in our power to promote a healthy environment for our children. This committee never advocated the removal of vending machines from the schools. What we did recommend was the removal of carbonated drinks and replacing them with healthier choices such as water, 100% fruit juices and sports drinks. We did not recommend that after-hour sales of carbonated drinks be stopped. The committee realizes the economic impact that this would have on our schools and did not consider banning after school hours sales. The committee's main concern was what was being sold in the snack and drink machines during school hours and what was being sold by our children to our children as a fund-raiser.

The committee also looked very closely at how the food was being prepared that was being served in our school lunchrooms. We recommended serving more fresh fruits and vegetable and less frying of foods. We also looked at ways that an outreach program could be started to help better educate our parents and help them in preparing healthier foods at home and making healthier choices for their families.

Alabama currently leads the nation in obesity and diabetes. Current statistics show that the life span of this generation will not exceed the previous generation. Statistics also show that the number of type II diabetes in Alabama's youth is also on the rise. This is a very serious issue because diabetes can lead to many more health problems such as blindness, poor circulation, loss of limbs, heart disease and much, much more.

We have to ask ourselves what this will do to the future of Alabama's work force. What will it cost us? What kind of impact will this have on generations to come?

Will a child that maintains a healthy diet and active lifestyle with plenty of exercise be able to learn quicker and advance faster in their school work?

According to doctors, 72% of our nation's health problems could be eliminated by adjusting two things, diet and exercise.

I am not saying this to hurt any particular company or any one particular organization, but I do feel that it is the responsibility of the industry to work with the departments of education, agriculture, and public health to ensure the future of the young people, not only of Alabama, but also the United States. We must stop targeting our young people with unhealthy choices.

I know that I have been very outspoken and have felt

Johanns Hosts Farm Bill Forum

Commissioner Ron Sparks, Tennessee Commissioner Ken Givens, and Louisiana Commissioner Bob Odom had the opportunity to discuss the details of the 2007 Farm Bill with United States Agriculture Secretary Mike Johanns (far left), while at the Farm Bill Forum held in Nashville, Tennessee in June. The Commissioners were especially impressed with Johann's interest in furthering the study and use of alternative fuels.

Sparks Stands Up for Quality U.S. Farm-Raised Catfish

Commissioner Ron Sparks wants to assure consumers that they can continue to enjoy U.S. farm-raised catfish and can have confidence that it is grown under the best conditions in the world. Sparks questioned the validity of a survey recently released by Mississippi State University that claimed a small number of people preferred basa fish grown in Vietnam over U.S. farm-raised catfish. "It's important to note that the Mississippi State survey included only 58 people and was a preliminary study," stated Sparks. "Catfish raised by U.S. farmers are grown under the safest and best conditions anywhere. I have been to Vietnam and I have concerns about the environmental conditions of the Mekong River where basa is raised in cages."

Sparks praised the work of Alabama catfish producers who, along with Auburn University and other state and federal agencies, developed Best Management Practices to establish environmentally sound standards for fish production. "Our practices have been adopted by other states and environmental agencies as the industry standard," added Sparks.

Alabama raises more catfish per acre of water than any other state and ranks second only to Mississippi in annual sales. More than 300 million pounds of United States catfish are sold each year, while only 9 million pounds of basa are imported into the United States.

New State Conservationist for NRCS in Alabama

Gary Kobylski, a dedicated conservationist for over 27 years, returns to Alabama as State Conservationist to lead the USDA-Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) efforts in the state. Gary and his wife Rhonda, both graduates of Auburn University, are looking forward to coming back to Alabama and calling it home once again.

Kobylski has served at all levels within the NRCS including, the field, state, regional, and national headquarters. He returns to us from Washington, DC, where he served as the National Environmental Quality Incentives (EQIP) Program Manager and a Resource Conservationist on the Operations Management and Oversight Division. He also provided program and operations management assistance to eight states in the Midwest Region for nine years.

Kobylski says, "It is my goal to continue fostering a partnership between our landowners, and our many conservation partners to ensure that generations to come will enjoy the bounty and beauty of the land in Alabama."

Kobylski replaces Robert N. Jones, who has accepted the position of NRCS State Conservationist in Alaska.

To contact the Alabama NRCS Office call 334/887-4500 or log onto their website at www.al.nrcs.usda.gov.

2005 Horticulture Tour

The 2005 Horticulture Tour will take place September 25-October 1. The purpose of this tour is to expose producers and other interested individuals to the horticultural industry in the Niagara region of Canada. Emphasis will be placed on greenhouse, nursery, and fruit production. Canada's greenhouse industry is technologically advanced and offers participants the opportunity to see possibilities in action. Participants will learn marketing perspectives and production techniques of our North American neighbor in its successful horticultural sector. The tour will also provide insight into commerce between the U.S. and Canada and what factors affect trade between the two nations. The deadline for registering for this tour is August 12, 2005. For more information contact Brian Hardin at 1-800-392-5705, Ext. 4217.

Farmers Market Day 2005

Farmers Market Day 2005 was fun for all that attended. An abundance of farm fresh produce was available for consumers to sample and purchase. As in years past, the Watermelon Eating and Corn Shuckin' contests captured the attention of the crowd. The day was full of excitement and activities for all to enjoy. Plans are already being made to make Farmers Market Day 2006 more outstanding. Photos from Farmers Market Day 2005 can be seen below.

2005 Farm-City Poster and Essay Contest

Cash prizes will be awarded by the Alabama Farm-City Committee to winners of a statewide poster and essay contest available for Alabama elementary and secondary students.

"The purpose of the poster and essay contest is to make students more aware of the importance of agriculture in their daily lives," said J. Paul Till, chairman of the Alabama Farm-City Committee. "The committee, made up of representatives from agriculture and business, was formed more than 30 years ago to promote better understanding and to improve relationships between the rural and urban segments of society," said Till.

The poster contest has two categories, K-3 grades and 4-6 grades. The essay contest is open to students in two divisions, grades 7-9 and 10-12. The theme for both poster and essay contests is "Alabama the Bountiful." Prizes at the state level for the poster contest range from $100 to $200 cash for students plus matching amount for the student's classroom. Prizes for the essay contest range from $200 to $300. Some of the poster entries will be used in a full-color wall calendar which will be distributed across Alabama.

The poster above, created by Jacob Sprinkle of Lawrence County, won first place in the forth to sixth-grade division in the 2004 Farm-City Poster Contest.

Contestants must win at the county level prior to Farm-City Week, Nov. 18-24, before entering the state competition. For rules and more details on how to enter, teachers or parents may e-mail ptill@alfafarmers.org or call 1-800-392-5705, ext. 4410.

very strongly about this issue for a very long time now. The reason is that I feel that this issue is one that not only affects us today, but has the possibility of affecting all of us for many years to come. I have taken the time to talk to healthcare professionals and nutritionists and read studies and information, and I have concluded that this is one of the most important and far-reaching problems that is facing our state and nation.

Century & Heritage Farm Program Reminder

Deadline: August 26, 2005

The Alabama Century and Heritage Farm Program is designed to recognize family farms that have been in operation for over 100 years. The Alabama Department of Agriculture and Industries will continue to accept applications through August 26, 2005. Anyone interested in the program can contact Amy Belcher at 334/240-7126, for more information.
